Since 1986, the National Dropout Prevention Center/Network (NDPC/N) has conducted and analyzed research, sponsored extensive workshops, and collaborated with a variety of practitioners to further the mission of reducing America's dropout rate by meeting the needs of youth in at-risk situations, including students with disabilities.

RESA II is pleased to announce the partnership with Dr. Steven Edwards and Ms. Rebecca Edwards in providing 21st Century professional learning communities for secondary principals to explore the High School Dropout crisis. This professional learning community will offer you important research findings, instructional improvements, and individual success stories. As you work through their book, The Principal's Role in Dropout Prevention: 7 Key Principles, you will explore concepts, strategies, and practices for successfully reducing dropout problems.
